

Richard Juhlin Blanc de Blancs non-alcoholic sparkling white wine

From renowned champagne connoisseur and wine critic, Richard Juhlin, comes a truly exceptional French sparkling non-alcoholic white wine made from 100% Chardonnay grapes.

Richard Juhlin, in partnership with MRG Wines from Gothenburg in Sweden, develop, produce and distribute a wide range of premium non-alcoholic wines. This Blanc de Blancs has a well-balanced freshness, crispy acid and beautiful notes of lime and green apples.

This wine is stored in small oak casks for a short time and then de-alcoholised using a gentle patented method that leaves the wines' natural aroma and character intact. This is an excellent and rare high-quality, non-alcoholic sparkling white wine from France.

Blanc de Blancs contains 0.0% ABV, 20.0 k/cals and 4.0 gms of carbs/sugar p/100ml. The 750ml traditional bottles are sold in cases of 6 bottles.
